Special and / or sensitive personal data that we process

Our website and / or service is not intended to collect data about visitors who are younger than 16 years. Unless they have permission from parents or carers. However, we can not check if a visitor is older than 16. We encourage parents to be involved in the online activities of their children, to prevent data about children being collected without parental consent. If you are convinced that we have collected personal information about a minor without your consent, please contact us at robert-paul@scienceofthetime.com and we will delete this information.

For what purpose and on what basis we process personal data

Science of the Time processes your personal data for the following purposes:

- If necessary, you can call or e-mail to perform our services
- inform you about changes to our services and products.

Automated decision-making

Science of the Time does not make decisions based on automated processing of issues that can have (major) consequences for people. This concerns decisions taken by computer programs or systems, without involving a person (for example, an employee of Science of the Time). Science of the Time uses the following computer programs or systems:

- Google Analytics

How long we store personal data

Science of the Time does not store your personal data for longer than is strictly necessary to achieve the purposes for which your data is collected. We use the following retention periods for the following (categories of) personal details:

Personal information > 5 years > Possibility to contact us for further research

Personalia > 5 years > Possibility to contact us for further research

And so on > 5 years > Possibility to contact us for further research

Sharing personal data with third parties

Science of the Time provides exclusively to third parties and only if this is necessary for the execution of our agreement with you or to comply with a legal obligation.

Cookies, or similar techniques, that we use

Science of the Time uses only technical and functional cookies. And analytical cookies that do not infringe your privacy. A cookie is a small text file that is stored on your computer, tablet or smartphone when you first visit this website. The cookies we use are necessary for the technical operation of the website and your ease of use. They ensure that the website works properly and remember, for example, your preferences. We can also optimize our website with this. You can opt out of cookies by setting your internet browser so that it does not store cookies anymore. In addition, you can also delete all information previously saved via the settings of your browser.

View, modify or delete data

You have the right to view, correct or delete your personal data. You can do this yourself through the personal settings of your account. In addition, you have the right to withdraw your consent to the data processing or to object to the processing of your personal data by our company and you have the right to data portability. This means that you can submit a request to us to send the personal information we have in your computer file to you or another organization mentioned by you.

If you wish to exercise your right of objection and / or right to data portability or if you have any other questions / comments about data processing, please send a specified request to robert-paul@scienceofthetime.com.

In order to ensure that the request for access has been made by you, we ask you to send a copy of your identity document with the request. Make your passport photo, MRZ (machine readable zone, the strip with numbers at the bottom of the passport), passport number and citizen service number (BSN) black in this copy. This is to protect your privacy. Science of the Time will respond to your request as soon as possible, but in any case within four weeks.

Science of the Time also wants to point out that you have the opportunity to file a complaint with the national supervisory authority, the Dutch Data Protection Authority. This can be done via the following link: <https://autoriteitpersoonsgegevens.nl/nl/contact-met-de-autoriteit-persoonsgegevens/tip-ons>

How we protect personal data

Science of the Time takes the protection of your data seriously and takes appropriate measures to prevent misuse, loss, unauthorized access, unwanted disclosure and unauthorized modification. If you have the impression that your data is not secure or that there are indications of abuse, please contact our customer service or robert-paul@scienceofthetime.com
